The Alliance (EUISSCA) Announces Charter Supplier Affiliate Memberships For the Utility Industry

Kansas City, MO – For the first time, the Electric Utility Industry Sustainable Supply Chain Alliance (EUISSCA), also known as The Alliance, is opening up membership to suppliers in the utility industry. This is a perfect opportunity for any utility industry supplier committed to sustainability - to collaborate across the value chain to address the challenges and opportunities.

“The current Alliance utility members are leaders in the area of sustainable sourcing. It is an exciting and important step to be opening our membership up to suppliers. The affiliate membership will provide an opportunity for suppliers to help shape the future of our industry, to learn from Alliance members, to access additional resources, and ultimately improve their performance,” says Mike Haggerty, Alliance Chair, Vice President of Supply Chain, Con Edison.

By joining now, Charter Affiliate Members will be able to participate in a special utility and Supplier Affiliate Member luncheon at our September Conference, attend our October Practice Sharing Session, and raise their profile with the electric utility industry.

Benefits of joining before September 1, 2018 include:

- A discount on your 2019 Alliance membership when you register for both years
- 2 early bird passes (1 for Enterprise Memberships) for the 2018 Sourcing Conference
- 2 passes to the Industry Leaders' Luncheon where you will have an excellent opportunity to collaborate with utility peers in shaping the program
- A 10% discount and priority placement based on availability in the Supplier Showcase
- Access to our October Practice Sharing Session
- Input on the 2019 Roadmap and planning
- A Charter Supplier Affiliate Member logo for your website and printed materials

ABOUT THE EUISSCA:

In an effort to address common questions and challenges regarding how to address sustainability and become 'more green', the Electric Utility Industry Sustainable Supply Chain Alliance was formed in 2008. Generally called The Alliance, the group was formed by several electric utility supply chain executives who recognized the potential benefits of working together to green the electric utility industry supply chain.
